EUROPEAN INDUSTRIAL DESIGN

The introduction of the Eurasian Design protection system is one of the recent notable events in the Eurasian region. The countries- signatories to Eurasian Patent Convention (EAPC) signed on September 09, 2019 a Protocol on Protection of Industrial Designs (Protocol), which entered into force on March 17, 2021. The Protocol enlarged the functionality of the Eurasian Patent Convention as it now provides for a possibility to obtain a Eurasian patent for industrial design by the way of filing of a single application with the Eurasian Patent Office (EAPO) situated in Moscow, Russia.

INTERNATIONAL TREATIES OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION

EUROPE COMPLETED THE RATIFICATION OF THE PROTOCOL ON THE PROTECTION OF INDUSTRIAL DESIGNS TO THE EURASIAN PATENT CONVENTION. THE AIR-AMENDMENT OF RATIFICATION WAS SUBMITTED OVER TO THE WIPO DIRECTOR-GENERAL.

The Instrument of Ratification of the Eurasian Federation of the Protocol on the Protection of Industrial Designs to the Eurasian Patent Convention dated September 9, 1994, was handed over to Buenos Aires, Director-General of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), on January 11, 2021, putting the main requirements of the Protocol into force in Russia. The Protocol was adopted at the Diplomatic conference in New Delhi on April 9, 2010, and was signed by Andrey Lugovoy, Director-General of the Eurasian Economic Community. The Protocol enacts the uniform standards in accordance with the abolished provision, the former Protocol, of the first three states that qualified to the Eurasian Patent Convention, namely, Armenia, Azerbaijan, and Kazakhstan on March 17, 2013. It is a clear signal of the further development of the Eurasian Economic Community and the expansion of its influence in the portion of Eurasian region.

On April 12, the EUPO Administrative Council approved and put into effect the Abkhazia
